Here are some of my favourite hobbies:

Running

If you have already seen "My Projects" then you already know that I started a running group. However, I also like to run! Last year after several months of training, I was able to finish my first ultramarathon and traditional marathon (approx 42 Kilometres). I plan on doing many more running events this year.

This is a picture of me at the finish line of the Regina Marathon. This was a lifetime goal and a huge deal for me to be able to complete 42 kilometres.

Nature

I love nature! I love being outside and taking pictures of flowers and insects. In my opinion, a day inside is a day wasted. If I see the sun, I'll be outside! I have a pair of walking poles that I like to use outside no matter the weather.

Here's a photo I took of snow-filled trees in January in Saskatchewan.

Animals

Throughout my entire life, I have had pets. My first pet was a guinea pig. I have had mice, rats, gerbils, a skink (lizard), a bird, hermit crabs and many more. I currently have a cat named Nellie. My partner and I adopted her from the shelter a week before Halloween this year. She is an absolute joy and terror all at the same time.

Nellie is the number one helper of all things so here she is helping me to open my Amazon box.

Travelling

In 2025 I took upwards of ten flights! Most of them were for work purposes but a few were just for me. I travel back to Toronto often to visit my family. I am not a big fan of heights and flying but I conquer my fears to be able to get from point A to B.

This is my window seat view above the clouds from one of the flights I took in 2025.
